The Whatcom Food & Farm Finder is now available on an interactive online map that is easy to use for residents and visitors alike.

The map, produced by Sustainable Connections, helps connect eaters hungry for fresh food.

The 2011-2012 version was unveiled last month at the opening day of the Bellingham Farmers Market and is available free at over 200 businesses throughout the county. Now the publication is also downloadable in PDF form, and listings can be seen on the new interactive online map by clicking the food and farming link at SustainableConnections.org.

"This year the Farm Finder has been disappearing faster than ever before from business shelves," Sustainable Connections Food & Farming Outreach Coordinator Sara Southerland said in a press release.

The map includes 121 local businesses offering a wide variety of locally grown products.
