Sunset magazine names Bellingham Farmers Market among the best in the West

KIE RELYEA - THE BELLINGHAM HERALD

BELLINGHAM - Sunset magazine has dubbed the Bellingham Farmers Market one of the top 10 across the West.

In its upcoming July edition, the magazine notes that the market is among those "worth the trip."

"What began as a small, grassroots effort has blossomed into one of Washington's biggest, most beloved markets," the magazine writes.

The coverage is part of what Sunset calls its food issue. The market was the only one in Washington state listed in the magazine.
