CASE STUDY

With multiple kitchens and serving areas across the resort, Semiahmoo is tackling a complicated aspect of their business. Navigating these systems to ensure that proper composting and recycling are taking place is no easy feat, but Semiahmoo is not daunted. As a large organization, they are exemplary at keeping their waste stations clean and sanitary and are dedicated to training every one of their many employees, most of them brand new hires, to be knowledgeable about proper waste sorting and to contribute to their TZW efforts.
